

Cache Me Outside

Can you find this ex hacker turned outdoorsman?

Background

Years after walking away from the scene, a retired hacker has left pieces of his identity scattered across the open internet.

At first glance, it looks like nothing more than a leaked conversation screenshot. But buried in that image is the first thread of a much larger trail. Public profiles, forgotten details, and small mistakes begin to connect into something more deliberate.

Someone wanted this person found.

Your Assignment

You are an OSINT investigator tasked with identifying the retired hacker and tracing the clues he left behind.

Start with the conversation screenshot, follow his online presence, connect the exposed details, and use the final evidence to determine where the trail ends.

yo man, you still alive?? haven't heard from you since the forum got taken down lol

JJ ^ _ ^ 2:46 AM

yeee still here, been trying to lay low for awhile. honestly i'm kind of done with all that scene 🙄

WKM1337? 2:46 AM

wait seriously?? what happened to you homie

JJ ^ _ ^ 2:47 AM

idk man, got into hiking and cycling. started going outside more after all those years staring at screens doing sketchy stuff, feels way better...

WKM1337? 2:48 AM

ngl that's actually kind of fire! how does one track all that stuff 🤔

JJ ^ _ ^ 2:48 AM

i use komoot, it's sick for logging routes and plannew new ones. here's my profile if you wanna see my trails or follow me

WKM1337? 2:49 AM

bro you really traded hacking for hiking 🦴 respect honestly, will check this out eventually.

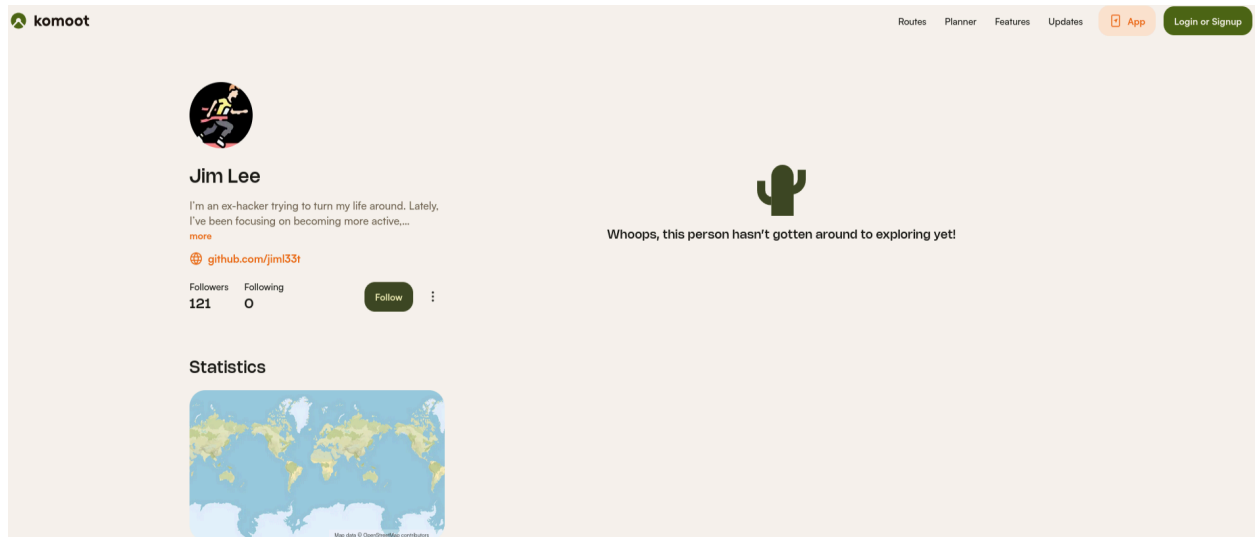

JJ ^ _ ^ 2:50 AM

hahaha yeah. fresh air hits different after years in a basement. try it sometime, you won't regret it.

Q: What is the retired hacker's full name?

If you follow the link front the chat thread we can find this information

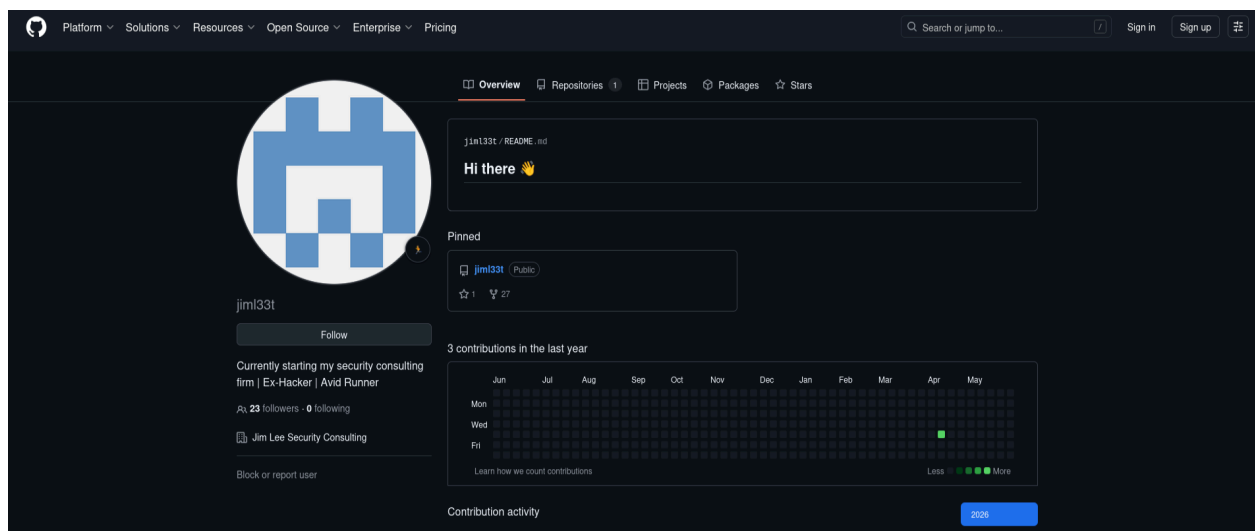

<https://www.komoot.com/user/5667624959835>

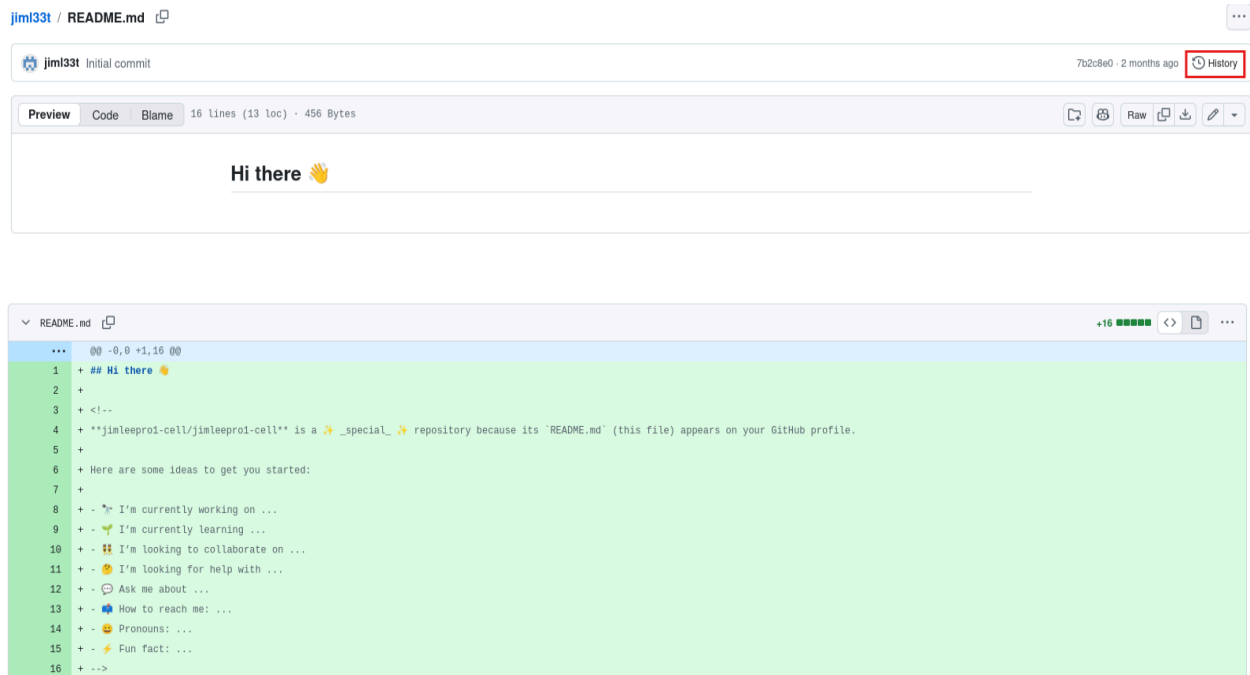

A: Jim Lee

Q: What email address did he accidentally expose?

His github is linked in his komoot bio, we can visit that

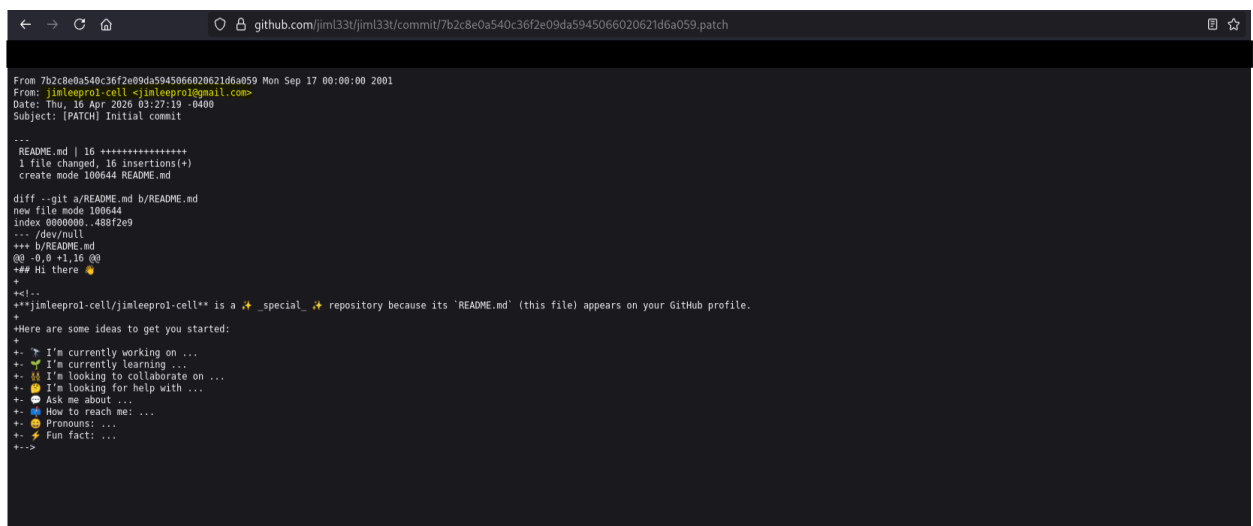

Check the jimI33t repo and view the commit history of the README.md file

The screenshot shows the GitHub repository page for `jimI33t / README.md`. The commit history is visible at the top right, showing a single commit by `7b2c8e0` from 2 months ago. The file content is displayed below, showing the README text:

Now we can see the email used

A: jimleepro1@gmail.com

Q: What is his phone number?

What we can do is send a test email to Jim's email to see if he has an auto reply, often these contain other contact information.

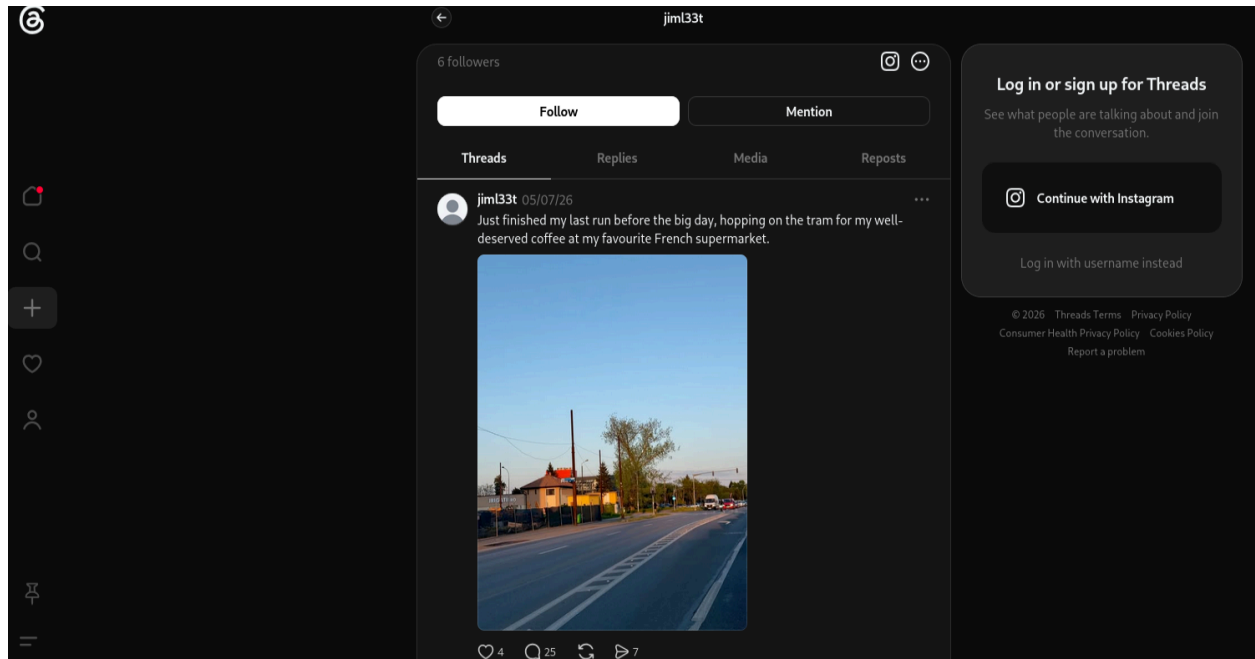

I sent a test email and it does auto reply, along with the phone number.

A: +40 743 321 239

Q: In which city is he located?

This was a little tedious to find, but eventually I came across a threads account with the same username from the github "jiml33t"

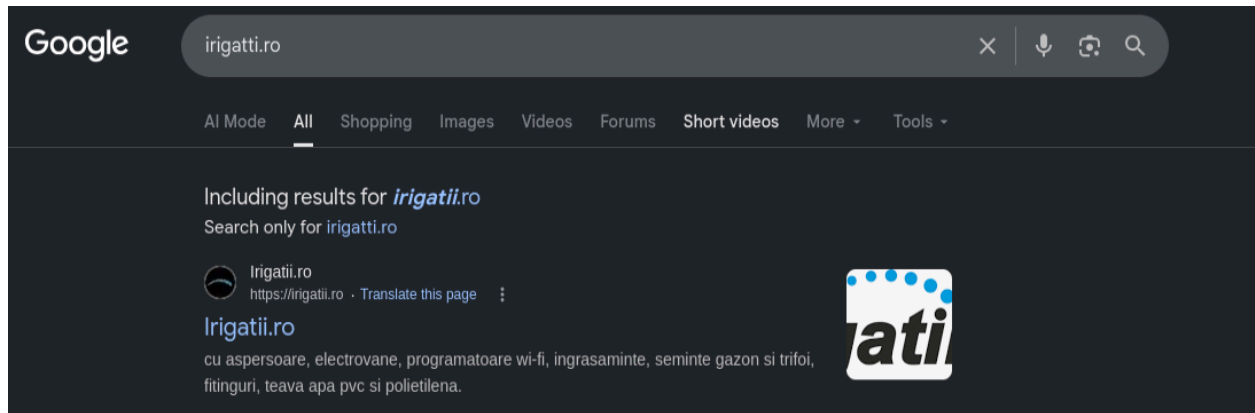

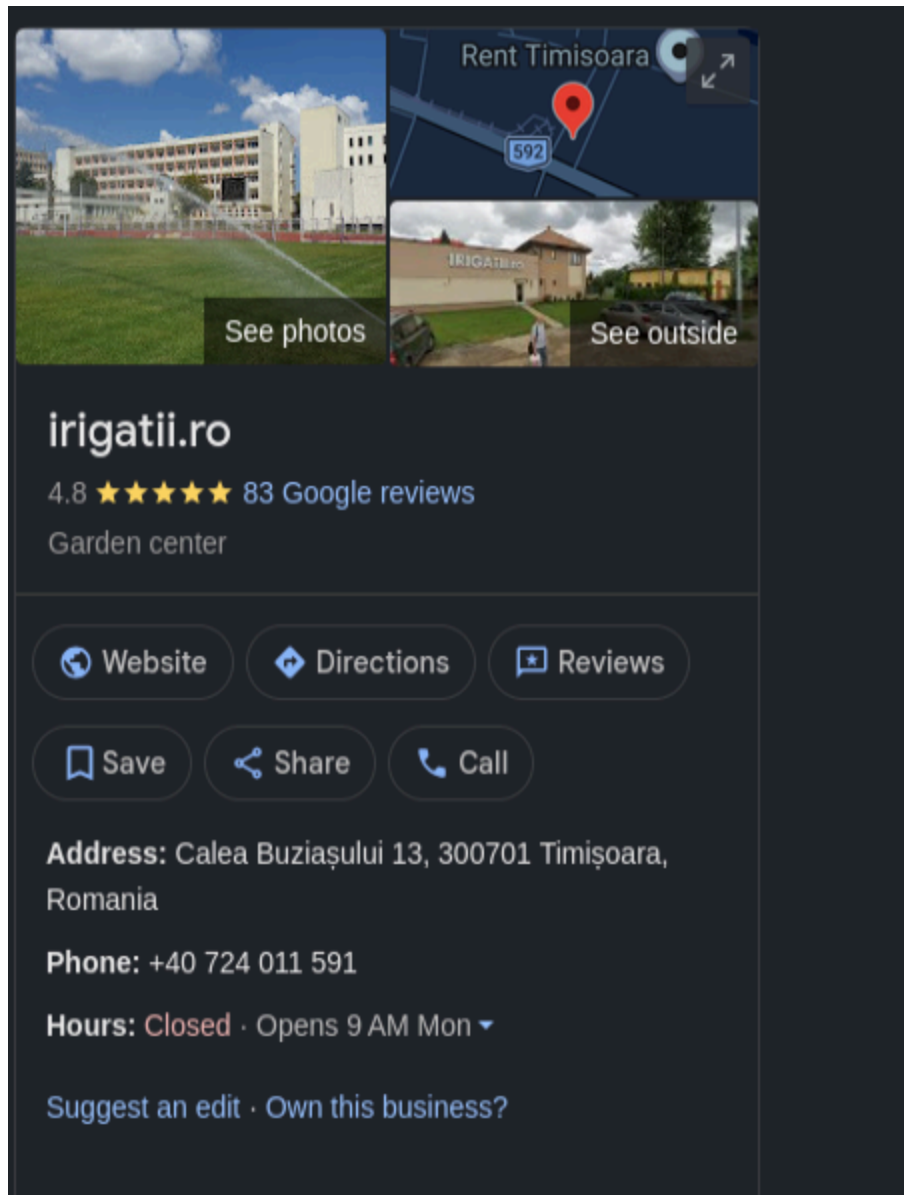

We can see from this photo taken on May 7, he is in Romania.

This is evident from the Irigatii.RO sign, indicating the country.

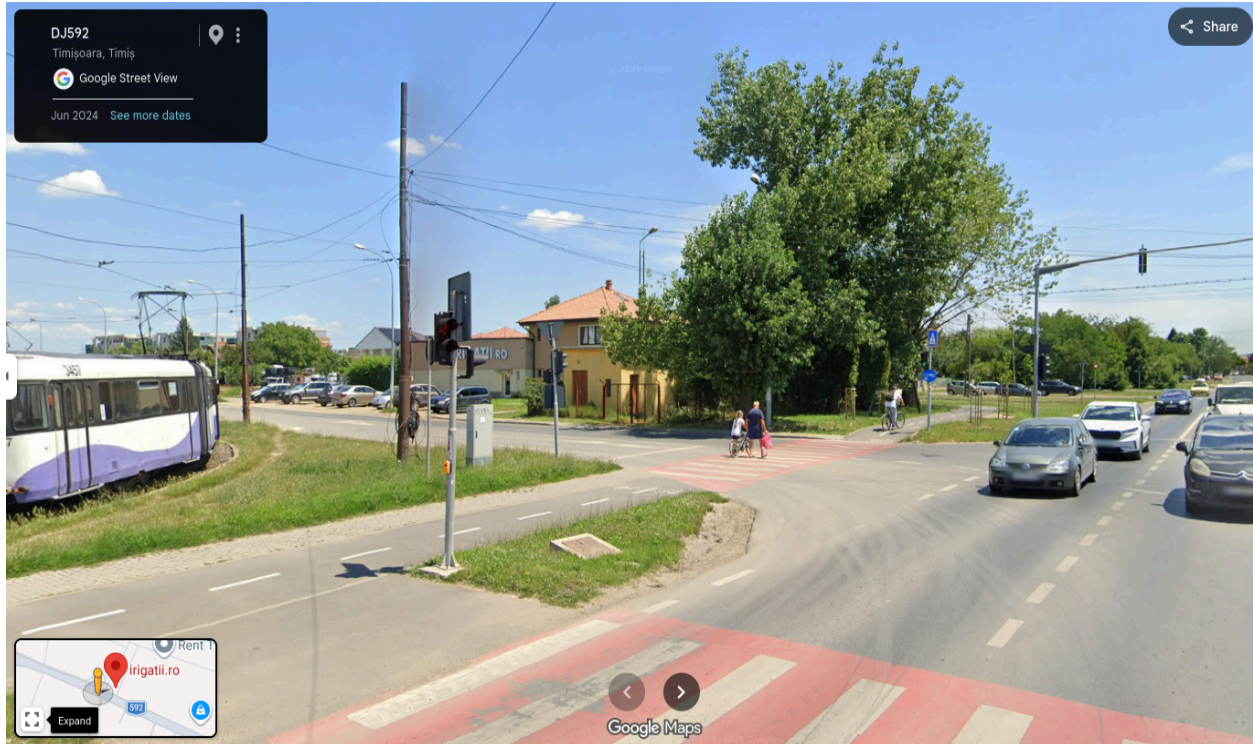

We can search for this on google

We can see the city in which this place is located: Timișoara

To confirm, we can view it in maps

So we know this is the same place

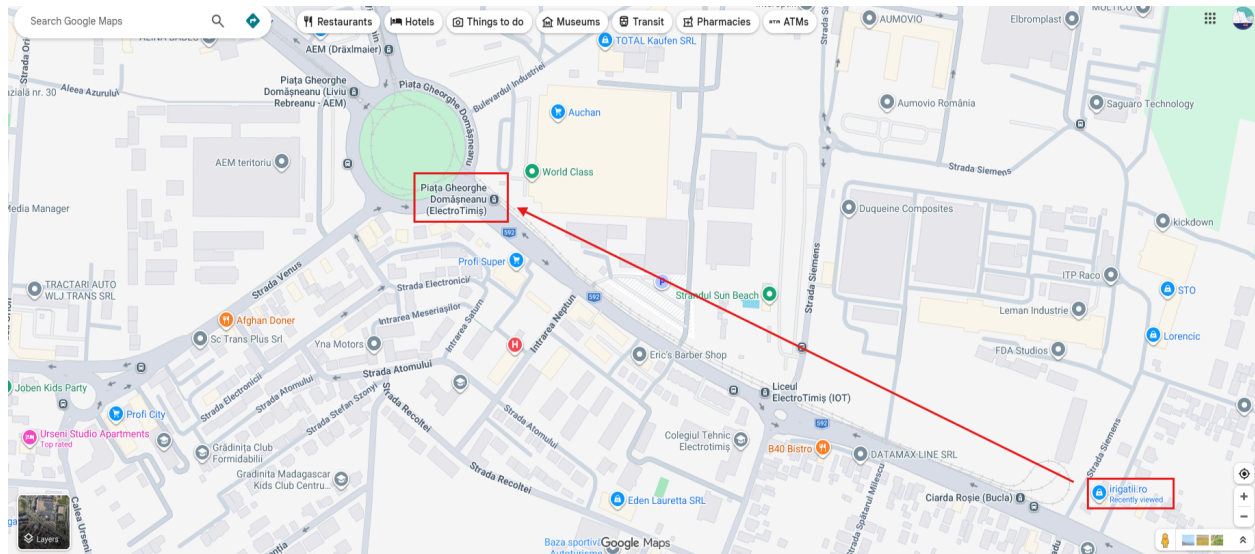

A: Timișoara

Q: Submit the name of the tram station where he got off on the 7th of May, 2026.

To do this, I looked for nearby tram stations to this location. We can see in the street view here there is a tram travelling west, so I searched west of the location.

I found the station:

Piața Gheorghe Domășneanu
